

My great grandmother

When she was young my great-grandmother lived in a small house in a village in the countryside. My great-grandmother worked in a bar. She didn't have a car. She went on a donkey or walked. She didn't go to the supermarket. She went to a small shop in the village. She didn't have a washing machine. My great-grandmother washed clothes by hand. She didn't have a computer or the internet but they enjoyed writing letters and reading books and newspapers.

My mom says that my great-grandmother was happy but life is easier today!
