

Project: My (Great)-grandmother

When my grandmother was young, the houses were low with only one ground floor, they had a corral and a barn with animals and many trees. They had vehicles: Horses, bikes, motorcycles and some people had cars (very few). they didn't have a supermarket, they took the food from the vegetable gardens.

They played the beans to the lame legin in their free time, they used to work in the slaughterhouse, in the fields and in the butcher shop.

For their breakfast they had coffee and milk with toast with oil, for lunch and dinner beans with (potato, chorizo, carrot...) they slept in a small room all together and helped their parents with the harvests.

In a word she had a happy life.
